Bay Man Dies In House Fire

by Adoree Shortle
Echo Staff Writer

A Bay St. Louis man burned to death in a pre-dawn house fire Sunday morning after a companion was unable to rouse him to escape the flames.

Firemen found the charred body of Evan Ladner, 43, on a couch in the living room of the three-room house on South Toulme street, after flames had been subdued enough to enter the structure.

When a neighbor, Henry Favre, reported the fire about 4:45 a.m. the Bay fire department dispatched both fire trucks to the scene. When firemen arrived they found the frame house engulfed in flames. Although the house was destroyed, buildings as close as eight feet on both sides remained untouched by the blaze. Waveland Volunteer firemen also assisted in fighting the fire.

Ladner's companion, Alvin "Red" Dahl, 36, in a later statement to Fire Chief Richard Fayard said he was awakened before dawn with his hair on fire. Dahl said he ran to rouse Ladner who "was cussing the smoke". Forced out of the house by the excessive flames and smoke, Dahl said he thought Ladner was "coming out too."

"I tried to go back in the house but I couldn't because the fire was too hot and the front room was nothing but flames", Dahl said.

In the signed statement, Dahl admitted that when he heard sirens he ran down Toulme street to the home of Harold Saucier on Necaise Ave. and fell asleep in Saucier's truck. About 9 a.m. Saucier discovered Dahl in his truck and both men went to the police and fire stations to submit the above information.

The fire is believed to have started in a kerosene lamp which Dahl said was

After Ladner's body was removed from the house by County Coroner Emile Piazza and J. T. Jacobs of Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home, firemen found the body of Ladner's little dog, which had burned to death on the couch beside his master.

The fire is under investigation by Deputy State Fire Marshal Norman Coward.

A SUDDEN GUST of tornadic wind hit the Charles Smith home at 151 Melody Lane in Bay St. Louis Wednesday afternoon, May 16, 1973. The force carried in its wake, like a capricious spirit, the house's front porch and roof, and the roof of the house, lifted a metal utility building (visible extreme left) from its foundation back of the house and deposited it across a fence 50 feet away in a neighbor's yard without touching the fence. The roof of the Stashler dog house, left foreground, was blown off and a basketball goal demolished. Bay Civil Defense Director J. R. Lavole surveys the damage.

Mayor Carver Wins Demo Nomination

(Election returns page 3A)

In a surprisingly large voter turnout Tuesday, incumbent Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver won the Democratic runoff against former Mayor John Seaford by an unofficial total of 1149 to 923.

Carver will face City Commissioner William Frisbie in the June 5 general election. Frisbie is the Republican nominee.

Lucien W. Kidd, who is unopposed in the general election, was elected commissioner, post one by defeating John McKenna, 1297 to 872. Kidd is presently serving as Hancock County Civil Defense Director.

Clarence M. Ladner, former state representative, totaled 1997 votes to defeat incumbent Post Two Commissioner Andre Arceneaux. Unofficial returns listed Arceneaux's total as 876.

Ladner will face independent candidate Buford Parker in the general election.

TACA Criticizes Tie-Down Rates

Representatives of TACA International Airlines and Stennis Field Flying Service were given until May 15 to settle their differences over aircraft parking rates at Stennis Field before the Port and Harbor Commission would intervene in the matter. P&H commissioners decided at a Thursday night meeting.

In a letter dated May 3, 1973, TACA pilot and representative Joe Haas approached the commission with a request for tie-down space for three TACA aircraft at the rate of $75 per plane, on airport space not under the jurisdiction of the flying service.

Haas said he had a previous verbal agreement with the flying service for parking the three planes at a rate of $175 per month but was recently notified that the fee had been upped to $800 a month, which TACA was unwilling to pay.

Appearing before the commission Thursday night was Frank Wheat, acting manager of the flying service, who advised the group that last February Haas had suggested a rate increase to Gus Rantz, then manager of the flying service. Rantz and Haas agreed on the $800 figure, Wheat stated, and TACA was duly notified.

Shortly after, Rantz left the airfield and Wheat assumed the position of manager. He then contacted a TACA official for clarification of lease arrangements, Wheat explained, and was told that the airline company was unwilling to accept the rental increase to $800, as being "unreasonable".

Haas then came to the field, Wheat said, and accused the flying service of "discriminating against TACA". He was going to protest the matter to Port and Harbor Director Dr. Michael Smith and the commission, Haas threatened.

Wheat stated that he took issue with Haas' attitude that the flying service was at fault as the rate increase was Haas' idea to begin with.

Commissioner Wilson Wehre advised Wheat that the commission was reluctant to get involved in the matter and the feeling was that the two companies should iron out the problem between themselves. A decision was reached that if the problem was not resolved by May 15, the P&H would take action.

Certain changes in the lease contract for the Bayou Caddy boat yard were submitted for commission approval and renewal. Changes included inclusion of a 15-day grace period allowed on rent payment; specified hours of operation deleted from the original contract and hours left to the discretion of the operator; a source available clause inserted for water and electricity for berths; authorization granted for the operator to make minor repairs under $100 with permission of the P&H director. Lease terms stipulate a fixed rental and other rates for a seven-year period giving the operator an option on lease renewal at the end of that period.

In an unrelated matter, the commission set May 15 as the date to meet with Patrick Horrigan, fixed base operator at Stennis Field, to discuss lease renewal terms for the flying service for the coming year.

The commission unanimously accepted a resolution requesting the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to certify the availability of funds, not to exceed $1.3 million, for the expansion of facilities at Stennis Field.

Certification of matching funds by the county is necessary to accompany application to the Federal Aviation Administration for the start of the massive project.

extension of the Stennis Airport runway.

T.L. James Co., Inc., of Kenner, La., was low bidder with $2,465,399 followed by Donald G. Lambert Contractors, Inc., of Louisiana at $2,734,151.

Gibson Electric Co., of Tifton, Ga., was low bidder on the runway and taxiway lighting project with a total bid of $94,591. Other bids received include City Electric of Laurel, Miss., $93,970; O'Neal Electric Co., Inc., of Gulfport, Miss., $100,917; and Kennedy Electric Co., Pascagoula, Miss., $109,422.

All bids have been taken under advisement according to Dr. Smith.

SMOOTHING OUT the rough spots, a county motor grader works the length of one of the controversial Bayside Park roads in preparation for surfacing. Bayside residents held a welcoming party early Monday morning, complete with ribbons and speeches, for boats two, three, four and five supervisors who brought in four graders to start working on the roads. The action followed a county board resolution in which the four supervisors agreed to do the work that beat one Supervisor Jerry Ladner has refused to perform.

Doctors To Staff Emergency Room On Full-Time Basis

Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees has entered into a contractual agreement with the hospital's medical staff to provide seven-day a week coverage of the hospital's emergency room by staff doctors.

The arrangement which was proposed by the doctors and presented to the board at a special meeting May 1, stipulates that the doctors will provide full emergency room coverage from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. Monday through Friday, and complete coverage from 8 a.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Monday for a specific fee.

In addition, the hospital will render all bills for emergency room services including the doctor's fee, as well as handle all collections thereof. Through a quarterly report and accounting, the doctors will be reimbursed as a unit for services rendered. An item in the contract states that the physician on duty will remain on the hospital premises throughout the entire duty period and will see all patients coming into the emergency room.

The agreement also allows any staff physician not able to personally be on duty at his designated time to arrange for a substitute doctor as long as that physician's credentials are approved by the hospital staff and administration.

The contract was adopted by motion of the board for a trial period from May 1 through September 30, 1973.

The agreement was presented to the board by Dr. John Levens. Others doctors present at the meeting were Dr. Wesley McFarland and Dr. M. L. Dodson.

At a regular meeting Tuesday night, Hancock General Hospital board unanimously moved to raise room rates at the hospital $1.50 per room per day, effective June 1.

In an unrelated matter, bids were opened for re-roofing the entire hospital building. As only one bid was received from Mandal's, Inc. of Gulfport, the matter was taken under advisement.

Youth Court Announces 'Get Tough' Policy

With juvenile crime hitting an all time high in Hancock County as well as the rest of the nation, Hancock County Youth Court Referee Michael Haas, and Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner have announced a new "get tough" policy for juvenile offenders.

Judge Haas stated, "If kids are going to act like adults, then they will be treated as adults."

Haas noted that offenses by juveniles in Hancock County have been steadily increasing, and the police agencies in the county have been averaging approximately one arrest per day for the last six months.

John Chevis, Youth Court counselor, reports that Hancock County has one of the highest per capita juvenile crime rates in the state. At the present time there are 27 juveniles on probation, one committed to the training school, and five on parole from the training school. Of these, one is presently at the Adolescent Evaluation Center in Raymond, Miss., undergoing extensive testing and evaluation, three have recently joined the Job Corps, and one has joined the services.

Judge Haas also stated that for any second offense adjudication he has the power to print the names of the juvenile and his parents in the local newspaper.

Judge Haas has urged all civic organizations as well as every individual in the county to become involved in the prevention of juvenile delinquency in the county in an effort to stop the rising crime rate.

Americans are becoming paranoid. Each week we are deluged with warnings about smoking, too much physical exercise (or not enough), certain foods, too many vitamins (or not enough), drugs and all the other things that will lead to an early death.

It seems, however, that doctors have neglected a disease which is threatening to wipe out the entire middle class section of our society.

It's known as Banquetitis. In order to find out more about the disease, Red Beans and Rice contacted Dr. Millard Recherche, a leading research scientist for a national restaurant chain who has studied Banquetitis.

In his pamphlet entitled, "A New Social Disease", Dr. Recherche lists the following as the three major symptoms of Banquetitis:

SEVERE INDIGESTION: The patient begins to notice this symptom after only one banquet meal which consists of one rib eye steak cooked on Tuesday and warmed over for a Thursday night banquet, last week's baked potato, carrots and peas, a lettuce and tomato salad with 1000 Island Dressing and cold coffee or warm tea. Unfortunately, this is not enough to discourage the banquet-goer who continues to subject his body to a variety of meals served at an endless list of dinners sponsored by numerous civic organizations.

DROWSINESS: Often mistaken for advanced case of encephalitis, this malady usually develops only in those patients who attend banquets featuring guest speakers. Symptoms vary with the speaker but become more severe when the topic of the speech deals with either 1) improving the community, 2) what's wrong with the community, or 3) how to become involved in the community. The sickness has been known to reach a dangerous stage when the patient is attending an affair with multiple speakers, such as awards banquets. There is a case history of a newspaper reporter who lapsed into a coma during one such banquet and didn't come to for three days.

MUSCULAR PARALYSIS: This syndrome usually occurs when the patient has attended several banquets in a row, with a graduation or two thrown in for good measure. In cases of Banquetitis sufferers, muscular paralysis generally sets in after an onslaught of severe indigestion, drowsiness and long-winded speakers (is there any other kind?). The patient isn't aware of the condition until he attempts to leave, when he finds that his whole body has atrophied in a sitting position. Other than carrying him out still in the chair, the only effective cure is to announce another speaker. This usually galvanizes the patient into instant action.

According to Dr. Recherche, Banquetitis usually strikes both men and women ages 25-45 who belong to at least two civic organizations, and are in the middle class economic level and can afford to purchase tickets to attend the banquets.

In his pamphlet, Dr. Recherche gives a few tips on how to prevent the disease:

1. Buy the tickets but don't go.
2. Eat at home before you go.
3. Bring a small book to read during the speech ("Gone With The Wind" for instance).
4. Attend the pre-banquet "social hour" and consume large amounts of bottled-in-bond vaccine. This won't prevent Banquetitis symptoms, but it does help to anesthetize the patient in case of an attack.

Robert Anderson's widely-acclaimed drama, "I Never Sang For My Father," will be presented on May 24, 25, and 26 at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's last play of the current season.

Produced by Mrs. Rubie Chapman, the play is being directed by Burt Barrett, chairman of production at the Little Theatre. Mr. Barrett is well-known to local audiences as the director of such past successes as "The Diary of Anne Frank," "The Miracle Worker," and "Plaza Suite."

May Crowning Held At OLG
Crowning of the statue of the Blessed Virgin was held Tuesday morning at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Woods with kindergarten through sixth-grade students of Our Lady of the Gulf School participating.

During 8:15 a.m. ceremonies Linea Cabell, third grade student, crowned the statue; Theresa Ladner, second grade, served as crown bearer and Michelle Van Peski represented the first grade. Hymns were sung and each student presented a bouquet at the foot of the shrine.

Kelli Poolson, fifth grader, crowned the statue at the 10:30 a.m. ceremony. Emily Merlin was crown bearer and Mary Beth Benvenutti led the group in reciting the rosary. The litany of the Blessed Virgin was led by Pam Favre and flowers were placed at the shrine by other fifth and sixth grade students.

NEW PROCEDURE
Last week, the Echo ran a story about the growing list of consulting specialists at Hancock General Hospital and described a new procedure for removing gall stones without surgery.

This particular procedure, as performed by Dr. William Bean, is possible only when the patient has already undergone surgery and the gall bladder has been removed. If a "tube" has been inserted, gall stones can be removed through the tube in certain cases. The patient's age and condition are the primary determining factors in whether or not the procedure is feasible, rather than employing other alternative treatments for the malady.

Juvenile Offenders Warned

The Hancock County Juvenile Court referee has announced this week a new "get tough" policy by the court in dealing with juvenile offenders.

And for good reason.

There were 118 juveniles arrested in Hancock County in 1972 and police records show a marked increase in juvenile crime within the first six months of 1973.

Offenses range all the way from runaways (mostly girls) through breaking and entering, malicious mischief and vandalism, to more serious acts such as burglary, grand larceny and automobile theft which are defined as felonies in adult criminal courts.

Entirely too many juveniles are arrested on narcotics charges, mostly possession of marijuana and paraphernalia.

More significant than the nature of their offenses is the fact that certain under-18-year-olds keep turning up on the jail blotter as repeated offenders. Some have records of arrests starting when they were 12 years old and are arrested three and four times within a year.

The local juvenile court authorities have come in for a good bit of criticism of late, including from this newspaper, for being too lenient with youthful offenders. The court appeared to be working on the principle that "a second chance for a first offender" should be more effective than immediate incarceration with older, hardened miscreants.

And there is much merit in that principle. Boys returning from stints at Oakley or Columbia (state juvenile detention centers) often admit that all they learned were new and better ways of breaking the law, as well as more refined escape and evasion tactics.

Giving credence to that attitude is the fact that young returnees from the two detention centers are often arrested again within a month after they get back home, usually for the same charges which sent them there in the first place.

What are the alternatives? There are several, mostly out of reach financially for this court which has to struggle to maintain minimal financing.

One alternative, seemingly the most logical, is to place a youth on probation and release him to his parents. This is too often an abortive action as in a large percentage of the cases the parents are the basis of the problem. Although many are high principled and cooperative with the court, too many are belligerent and hostile toward both law enforcement agents and juvenile court authorities, which seriously hampers rehabilitation efforts and is reflected in the child's behavior.

However you look at it, the problem is a serious one and is rapidly becoming worse.

Although we are well aware of the magnitude of the situation, this paper can not presume to offer any solutions. Whatever was the motivating force that brought our juvenile court referee to his avowed decision to "get tough" - we're glad of it - and will extend this paper's wholehearted support in carrying out the new policy of operation.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

Back at the turn of the century we used to sing this song in gradeschool: "May is here, the world rejoices; earth puts forth her flowers to greet her. Happy May! Joyous May!"

And here we are, right in the middle of the loveliest month of the year. As the poet so beautifully put it, it is "the time of the singing of birds." We wake in the morning to the gentle cooing of the mourning doves, and drop off to sleep at night to the lullaby of the mocking bird singing to his mate.

Probably in no other place in the country are there as many different kinds of birds as along the Gulf Coast in May. The last stragglers of the geese, swans and ducks are hastening northward, as are the robins, crows, catbirds and many other varieties of small winter visitors.

Recently we put up a bird feeder in our side yard - and are we popular now! Even though the grass and woods and marshland around us must be teeming with food at this time of year, there are always half a dozen feathered little pligs gorging at the feeder or under it. Most common are the redwing blackbirds, but blue jays, robins, orioles, grackles, purple martins, mockers, kingfishers, crows and doves drop in for a meal at any time of the day. We have seen several other species which we guessed were of the thrush and wren families.

Birds not only eat the feed we put out for them; they eat bugs too. After the great hurricane of 1847, which hit this area particularly hard, the people were greatly troubled by a horde of insects of all kinds which flew or crawled over everything, destroying plants and infesting houses. It was then noticed - and commented upon - that there was a noticeable absence of bird life after the big wind, and for many months the bugs roamed unmolested. The same thing happened after Camille, though modern pest control methods kept the bug population under restraint until the birds returned.

Bay St. Louis always has been noted for the abundance of wildlife in the area, from birds to buffalo. The first white men to come here wrote in their journals about the large number of deer and other game that they found here, and even today we have seen deer near that interesting old town site, Napoleon, and there are plenty of smaller animals in the fields and marshes. In fact, we've even had good sized alligators in our canal.

So let us a-May-ing go, and instead of the sour notes of the crooked politicians and the high cost of everything, let us hear and rejoice in the glorious song of the redwing and the mockingbird and be glad that we have, as the little boy put it, so many of God's screechers!

Chamber Report

By Sylvia McComiskey
Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Manager

E.J. Marengo, president and Robert Wyatt, chairman of the Area Promotion Committee, attended the Governor's First Annual Conference on Tourism in Jackson May 9 and 10 representing the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The report brought back was that the trip was well worth the effort and the information gained can be useful for our area. They saw a "sneak preview" of a tourism promotional film of the South produced by Paramount Studios, which will be shown throughout the country to stimulate interest of travelers to come to the "Deep South". Apparently this film portrays the beauty of the South to its full extent.

Many speakers of note talked informatively on tourism, including the Vice-President of BETTER HOMES & GARDENS, SOUTHERN LIVING, the Vice-President of American Airlines, and the National Director of "Discover America" from Washington D.C. Most stress was placed on the Gulf Coast and the Natchez Trace by the speakers and they all stated that we have one of the most beautiful areas of the Country; also that all the tourism conferences that they have attended, Mississippi's attendance was the best and the hospitality in our State is fantastic. It was also noted that tourism is the third largest industry in the World and rapidly growing.

Governor Walker informed us that a "super tourist attraction" is planned for the State of Mississippi, which will become a by-word for Mississippi like Disneyworld is for Florida. The location has not been revealed as yet but it certainly will be interesting to know. Official announcement will be forthcoming at a later date.

All in all, the information obtained and statistics gathered will be invaluable in showing our Chamber the proper way to promote our County.

SOYBEAN SEED

The quality of available soybean planting seed is more variable this year. Overall seed quality is probably below normal. Know as much as possible about the particular seed you choose to plant.

To choose the correct planting rate, check the germination as close to planting time as possible. As weather warms up, bean seed of lower quality may begin to drop in germination. If this happens increase the planting rate to get a stand.

When the weather breaks, there will not be enough time nor enough seed for replanting. Therefore, getting a stand on the first planting is more important than ever.

Conduct an emergency test using your planting seed. Plant 100 seeds in sand, or preferably field soil and count the number of plants that emerge to determine the percent germination.

MAKING NEW PASTURES

When putting in additional pastures, select the kind of grass and clovers you need. The success of your rotation program depends upon your selection. Start new pastures as soon as possible, taking advantage of the moisture available.

Coastal bermuda grass should be planted this month. It can be established from hay clippings or sprigs. Planting with hay clippings requires 20 to 30 bushels of freshly cut clippings broadcast per acre of prepared seedbed. After broadcasting, run a pulverizing disk and cultipack immediately. Use a preemergence herbicide soon after sprigging.

SILAGE

Consider sorghum as a substitute for late-planted corn. The increases in yield may offset the usual decrease in quality.

If planting either forage or grain sorghums, try to get the crop in as soon as possible. If plantings are made June 1st or later, lower yields can be expected.

Before planting sorghum, make sure that sufficient storage space is available. Remember also that grain sorghum should be cracked or ground for best feed efficiency.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:

Hancock County stands to suffer a great loss from the recent cutting of library construction funds by the Congress. For five years we have awaited our turn to receive this allocation through the Mississippi Library Commission for our library.

This year, we are NUMBER ONE on the list to receive this assistance, but Congress has failed to make the funds available.

Miss Mary Love, director of the Mississippi Library Commission, has informed us that there is a "continuing resolution" in effect concerning this legislation for funds for library construction and that the funds are being held in the office of the Honorable Casper Weinberger. The Trustees of the City-County Public Library have been assured by Miss Love that if these funds are released to the State, they will immediately be turned over to our area for construction purposes.

It is the hope of the Board of Trustees that we can secure the help of the people of Hancock County in getting these funds released by writing our Congressmen and having them put pressure on the people who are withholding these funds.

As you probably know, Hancock County is the only County on the Gulf Coast which does not own its own facility, even though it serves some 17,000 people. We feel a modern library building would be a source of pride to the community and county, as well as a working plant which will adequately serve the future needs of our citizens.

We need the help of everyone in Hancock County to get these funds which we so rightfully deserve in order that we may finance this worthwhile project for our community, and we urge each family to write a letter as soon as possible to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Thank you very much for letting us express our needs to the community through this media.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. Nicholas M. Haas,
Chairman Board of Trustees
Mrs. Louise Lynch, Trustee
Peter J. Benvenutte,

Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Trustee

Dear Sir:

Our Super Markets have been kind enough to provide adequate car-parking space for shoppers. It appears, now, that the name should be changed to CART-parking space. Is it possible for your paper to appeal to the public, to show consideration toward their fellow shoppers, by not blocking these spaces meant for automobiles? It isn't all that much trouble to roll one cart out of the way of traffic.

Yours truly,
Juanita G. Chapman

What to do with a windfall.

Series H Bonds.

If you've come into a sizeable amount of money, and you're concerned about a good way to put it to work for you, think about Series H Savings Bonds.

H Bonds are designed to help you preserve your funds, and still give you a dependable, steady income. And they're one of the safest ways to keep your principal intact.

Your banker has purchase applications for Series H Bonds. They're sold at face value for $500, $1,000 and $5,000, with an annual purchase limitation of $5,000 ($10,000 with a co-owner).

Unlike Series E Bonds, which hold your interest until maturity, H Bonds pay interest as fast as it's earned. You get an interest check mailed to your door every six months.

If you'd like to get an interest check every month, just buy an H Bond a month for six consecutive months. That way, you've got 120 checks in a row guaranteed.

Don't cast your windfall to the winds. Buy Series H Bonds. For a safe, sure income you can count on.

Buy Series H Bonds

Now the H Bond interest rate averages 6 1/2%.

Your money held to a maturity of 10 years.

Bonds are redeemable at any time, with a penalty for redemption after six months by application through your bank.

See the H Bond interest rate on the back of the application form.

Rebuilding Begins In Managua

PART III

By William G. Gaudet

Managua, Nicaragua—Even though a popular song some years ago carried the name, "Managua the Beautiful," Managua could never be called a beautiful city. Nor were its beginnings steeped very deep with historical events.

Actually Managua was not a very pretty city and certainly the now destroyed downtown section had little to offer a tourist.

Yet Managua was a truly happy city. Nicaraguans love music and at any hour of the day or night a person walking the streets of Managua could hear music and laughter.

On Avenida Roosevelt, the main artery, the hawkers never seemed to run out of something to say, to offer to a potential buyer. In other cities this may have been out of place, but somehow it seemed very natural for Managua.

In front of the old Gran Hotel, as soon as you stepped from the lobby a half dozen taxi drivers offered to drive you somewhere. The newcomers to Managua usually took one of these, but the veteran visitor passed them by and stood on the corner and stopped one of the mini-cabs because of the great price differential.

And inside the lobby of the Gran Hotel, which at that time was the central meeting place for discussions, visiting businessmen and Nicaraguans talked of huge projects. The great rush to Managua for Americans started almost immediately after World War II and it was nothing to hear Americans and Nicaraguans talking about multi-million dollar "deals". Once when the late Harold Becklin was the manager of the Hotel Gran he had a sign over the bar which read, "No deals involving less than $1,000,000 may be discussed on these premises."

It was also in this same hotel in January of 1969 that this writer along with 100 others was held hostage by persons who were opposing the election of General Anastasio Somoza. The National Guard sent tanks and soldiers with machine guns and the firing raged through the night. By morning it became obvious no one would get out alive unless some negotiations between the two factions were started. Finally I got permission to leave and two Catholic nuns, Patricia Dieman and Alice Myer agreed to go with me. It was no easy walk over to the National Guard, but I did succeed and made the contact which brought the U.S. Military attaché to begin the negotiations which led to the release of all the hostages by nightfall.

It was an incredible contrast going back now after the quake. Gone was the music, gone were the hawkers, the taxi drivers. Managua was now a city of silence, a city of death. The outside walls of the Gran Hotel still stand, but looking inside it is plain to see that the fourth floor crashed downward to the third, and these two crashed on down to the second. No one knows whether any dead are still in that mass of debris, for no one has made a search because such a search would be impossible. If they are there, they will be found when the hotel is demolished.

A side view of the Gran Hotel — note that the third and fourth floors are missing. (Photo by W. G. Gaudet)

Local Guard Members Sent

Members of the local unit of the Mississippi Army National Guard, stationed in Bay St. Louis were sent this week to Anguilla, Miss., to assist in flooded areas.

These men will be using eight LARC V's which will transport evacuees, food supplies, sand bags, household furnishings and livestock.

Those sent include: Cpl. James A. Lagasse, Spec. 5 Michael Cox, Spec. 4 Richard L. Dantes, Spec. 4 Joseph V. Hanson, Spec. 4 Wayne R. Peterson, Spec. 4 Loyal L. Piker, Spec. 4 Paul J. Remel, Spec. 4 Dennis M. Skremetta, Pfc. Clois R. Dedeaux, Pfc. Georges E. Locke, Pfc. Thomas L. Mauffray, Pfc. Phillip J. Remel and Pfc. Guy M. Wheeler.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

Amen's softball tournament will be held this Saturday and Sunday at Commagere Park in Bay St. Louis. Games will begin each day at 9 a.m. Refreshments will be available.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, Women play a most important part in the insurance industry; and
WHEREAS, they are not only effective locally and statewide in related fields - fire prevention, safety, crime prevention, amongst many others, but they have also made themselves effective nationally; and
WHEREAS, the National Association of Insurance Women (International) now has a membership of more than 15,000; and
WHEREAS, these women deserve commendation and recognition for their outstanding accomplishments in their truly professional field;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Warren Carver, Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, do hereby proclaim May 20, 1973 through May 26, 1973 as NATIONAL INSURANCE WOMEN'S WEEK and urge our citizens to do honor to the women who are performing such important services throughout the insurance industry.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official Seal of the City of Bay St. Louis, state of Mississippi, to be affixed this 16th day of May, 1973.

WARREN CARVER, Mayor

the opinion of scientists, will it be the last.

General Somoza has yet to make a formal official announcement. But it is this writer's opinion that when all the debris has been cleared and reconstruction actually gets underway, the site will be the same as it was before December 23.

In view of the great destruction of Camille, few believed that people would ever rebuild and live within a thousand feet of the beach. But that is exactly what has happened. This writer happens to live in Waveland, and the entire beach area was totally destroyed, but I am back living in a house which is less than 500 feet from the beach. And all of us, from Biloxi to Waveland to Clermont Harbor, know we have had hurricanes before Camille and probably will have hurricanes in the future. Yet we rebuild and this is what the people of Managua surely will do.

Unquestionably many will argue that it is sheer folly to rebuild in an area which is not safe. The question, of course, is what area is safe. We have had our flash floods in the Dakotas, in Pennsylvania, hurricanes in Miami and along the Gulf Coast, volcano eruptions in Costa Rica, tornadoes in Kansas, Texas, blizzards in Montana and Minnesota.

So when General Somoza gives the word, rebuilding will start in Managua as it was. First will come the office buildings and then the residences. Maybe it will stand for a year or a hundred years, but that is the way man is built—he knows his ultimate destiny and no one can escape it.

No argument exists so far as the First National City Bank is concerned. It was burned and gutted and will have to be rebuilt.

Big question is where will reconstruction begin—will Managua be rebuilt in the present location or not. Many have talked of turning it into a beautiful plaza. All of this because this is not the first earthquake that has devastated Managua, nor, in

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Starting off again this week we have had perfect weather, winds and tides for all kinds of fishing where good water can be found. The head of Jourdan River, Bayou LaCrosse and Rotten Bayou, plus Wolf River on the other side of the Bay have been the best places for catching perch and bass. They are now beginning to hit surface baits. Of course you can still use underwater baits and catch 'em.

Salt water fishing is another thing. The waters around here are rather muddy. We think Pearl River water and the Mississippi River water has come our way. Fishermen going out to the Louisiana marshes have been finding good water at such places as Grand Pass, North Island, Nine and Three Mile Bayous and other places. Fish have been caught best at Mitchell Key and Chandler Islands the past week.

These places are far out and it takes a pretty good size boat to go to them if one wants to be safe.

As for fresh water fishing, bass and perch are being caught mostly at White's Bayou, Bayou Coward at the head. Up Jourdan River, Bayou LaCrosse and their territories and Rotten Bayou where bad water hasn't gotten yet. Local lakes and ponds are also good for fishing right now. A few croakers and some red fish are being caught off the seawall and at Bayou Caddy and the canals.

Hard crabs are being gotten off the seawall most anywhere but especially down Bayou Caddy way. Soft shell crabs are a scarcity but a few, very few, were caught by the die-hards this past week. Maybe they will start giving soon.

For those who fish for bass and perch in Pearl River, Black Bayou, Mills Bayou, Koffman Bayou and that section might as well forget about them. The water is terrible and will be for a while.

Would like to hear of someone spearing flounders. They too haven't started giving. Now is the time to get them.

Sportsmen always find something to do however. Sunny and Don Billiat took their boat out to Cat Island over the weekend to fish, crab, flounder, etc. It was a mother's day trip for Mrs. Billiat.

Ben F. Gillespie does not do much fishing but he said his wish is that the waters clear up so that more people will get out. Thanks, Ben.

Bill Karl and Johnny Legendre besides doing fishing like to crab. They caught 5 dozen and 2 nice size hard crabs one day last week. Had a ball eating them. No secret, they got them down by Bayou Caddy.

Taking advantage of the holiday on Election Day, last Tuesday, Norman Benigno and his wife with Charley Prest and wife went crabbing. Unusual. They caught bouque crabs. Some boll crab eating followed.

Harry Brooks, who was a linotype operator like myself, loves to fish and play golf. He has purchased a new boat, Dick Mestayer, Yours Truly and Harry are planning some nice fishing trips and golf games in the near future if our old legs hold out.

Write good things they are never commented upon. Make a booboo and they are broadcast. According to Norman Benigno I made one last week when I said blackberries were being picked. They were not blackberries, they were dew berries. Black berries come later. Did you know that dew berries grow on small bushes while blackberries grow on vines which climb high and into trees, etc.? Thanks, Norman.

Understand that Rudolph is confined to a hospital due to a heart ailment. Son is one of our old time fishermen, oysters, etc. Our hope is that he gets well soon.

M. F. Cass came down Tuesday from Hattiesburg to do fishing, frogging, etc. M.F. has a camp on 4-dollar Bayou, enjoys fishing and other outdoor sports. He has a home on the Lake outside Hattiesburg. His 3 Boston bull puppies are his second pleasure.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK

Most folks know Harvey Mitchell. He is a real fisherman and hunter. Harvey catches all kinds of fish. Goes all the time and tells some good stories about his catches.

John Genin is down again from Ole Miss. for a month. John will do some fishing and golfing at which both sports he is good.

Those playing the golf course at Diamond Head claim the course is in excellent shape. It is just a few miles North of Bay St. Louis. Playing a new course once in a while is something different for the average golfer.

Mothers' Day was observed Sunday. It's a poor sportsman who doesn't think of his mother on her day. How many days did she make it possible for us to go fishing?

Have you heard the old saying? "No matter where I serve my guests they seem to like my kitchen best." Especially when I serve a drink.

Most of our local lakes are filling up with grass. Makes it kinder hard to use a fly rod or do casting in them.

Clayton Seely said he has put a boat over and expects to do some fishing soon. Won't have any trouble getting someone to go with him.

The American Legion Pier is a good place to do some salt water fishing. It is a public pier and has an excellent boat ramp. Right now the water is on the shady side. Red fish, croakers and other salt water fish are caught when conditions are right.

Using a fly rod properly is like playing golf. It takes practice.

The barge across the seawall and road at Bayou Caddy is an ugly sight. Still it is worth seeing. Drive down and take a look at it. An emergency road has been built around it.

Tigers Defeat Rocks, 4-3

In an evenly fought battle the Bay High Tigers defeated the St. Stanislaus Rocks, 4-3, in eight innings. Mandy Kramsky pitched the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning. There were no outs in the inning with Kramsky at third base and Alvin Lafontaine hit a single to drive in the run.

Leslie Hinson went all the way on the mound for the Tigers getting credit for the win. He struck out 10, walked six and up three runs on eight hits.

Lance Gustaf was the losing pitcher for Stanislaus going the full eight innings. He allowed four runs on seven hits, struck out nine and walked four.

Robert Sisson of the Rocks got the big hit of the game in the sixth inning when he hit a triple driving in one run and then scoring on a single by Dave Kenny. Kenny advanced to second base when Dan Ford walked. Bud Lang got a single driving in the tying run in the top half of the sixth inning.

Stanislaus closed out their season with a 3-5 won-lost record.

The Tigers still have one game to play, and that is against Notre Dame of Biloxi at Bay St. Louis.

SSC Loses To Rebels

The Notre Dame Rebels of Biloxi defeated the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 8-3 in high school baseball action last Tuesday at Thompson Field in Biloxi.

The Rebels took an early lead in the game and were never in trouble. Bob Ladnier started on the mound for the Rebels and received credit for the win although he only pitched 4 1-3 innings. In the fourth he was replaced on the mound by Mike Viator, who in turn was replaced on the mound by Pat Lyons who finished the game for the Rebels.

Bud Lang was the starting moundman for the Rocks but was replaced by Robert Sisson in the second inning. Lang was given the loss.

There were two extra base hits in the game and both came from the bats of the Rebels. Dave Martino got a double and Pat Lyons got a home run.

Only one Stanislaus player got more than one hit in the game and that was Lance Gustaf who went two for four.

Society Holds Meeting

Brother Joseph, St. Augustine Seminary, gave the invocation at a meeting of Bay-Waveland Humane Society, Inc., last Tuesday at Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Sandra Koemann, secretary, and Mrs. Mardelle Hosking, president of the Harrison County Humane Society, guest speakers, were introduced by Bay-Waveland Society's president, Larry Lavoie.

Mrs. Koemann told how their Society was organized 25 years ago and the functions of its present structure. She stressed the importance of publicity and how people-power is necessary to obtain the help of officials who are so vital to the Society.

Mrs. Hosking noted there are laws in the Mississippi Statute to cover animal control in the county, but it is up to the societies to apply pressure to have them enforced.

Both ladies offered Bay-Waveland any assistance possible. A question and answer session followed the address.
